This request supplemented the consultation request of 19 July 2016. The addendum was circulated to WTO members as document WT/DWS509/1/Add.1 and G/L/1148/Add.1.

The European Union held consultations with China on 8 and 9 September 2016. Those consultations unfortunately did not resolve the dispute.

I. EXPORT DUTIES

China imposes export duties on various forms of antimony<sup>13</sup>, chromium<sup>14</sup>, cobalt<sup>15</sup>, copper<sup>16</sup>, ferronickel<sup>17</sup>, graphite<sup>18</sup>, lead<sup>19</sup>, magnesite<sup>20</sup>, talc<sup>21</sup>, tantalum<sup>22</sup> and tin<sup>23</sup>. These materials are not listed in Annex 6 of the Protocol on the Accession of the People's Republic of China (WT/L/432) ("Accession Protocol").

The legal instruments through which China imposes and administers these export duties, operating separately or collectively, include but are not limited to:

- as well as any annexes or schedules thereto, amendments, supplements, extensions, replacement measures, renewal measures, and implementing measures.

The European Union considers that these measures are inconsistent with Paragraph 11.3 of Part I of the Accession Protocol because these measures constitute taxes and charges applied to exports.

China imposes quantitative restrictions, such as quotas, on the export of various forms of antimony<sup>24</sup>, indium<sup>25</sup>, magnesia<sup>26</sup>, talc<sup>27</sup> and tin<sup>28</sup>.

The legal instruments, through which China imposes and administers these quantitative restrictions, operating separately or collectively, include but are not limited to:

The European Union considers that these measures are inconsistent with Article XI:1 of the GATT 1994 and China's obligations under the provisions of Paragraph 1.2 of Part I of the Accession Protocol, which incorporates commitments in Paragraphs 162 and 165 of the Working Party Report on the Accession of China (WT/MIN(01)/3) ("Working Party Report"), because these measures constitute export restrictions other than duties, taxes or other charges.

III. ADMINISTRATION AND ALLOCATION OF QUANTITATIVE EXPORT RESTRICTIONS

China imposes additional requirements and procedures with respect to the administration and the allocation of the quantitative export restrictions on various forms of indium<sup>29</sup>, magnesite<sup>30</sup>, talc<sup>31</sup> and tin<sup>32</sup>, including restrictions on the trading rights of enterprises seeking to export those products, such as prior export experience requirements, and other conditions that appear to treat foreign and foreign-invested entities differently from domestic entities.
